

Direct Objects

Lyrics by GrammarFlip

GrammarFlip

Direct objects show the action's aim;
They answer "what" or "whom" – that's their claim to fame!
After the verb, they take their place;
A noun or a pronoun in the objective case.

I kicked the ball across the yard;
"Ball" is the object—it's not too hard.
She watched a movie late last night;
"Movie" is the object—yeah, you know that's right!

Direct objects show the action's aim;
They answer "what" or "whom" – that's their claim to fame!
After the verb, they take their place;
A noun or a pronoun in the objective case.

The dog chased the squirrel around the tree;
"Squirrel" is the object—it's easy to see.
He bought a gift, yeah, a gift to share;
"Gift" is the object—yeah, you'll find it there!

Direct objects show the action's aim;
They answer "what" or "whom" – that's their claim to fame!
After the verb, they take their place;
A noun or a pronoun in the objective case.

We played some music late last night;
"Music" is the object—it fits just right.
He shared a secret with his best friend;
"Secret" is the object—it's clear to comprehend!

Direct objects show the action's aim;
They answer "what" or "whom" – that's their claim to fame!
After the verb, they take their place;
A noun or a pronoun in the objective case.

