

The Understood You

Lyrics by GrammarFlip

It's the "understood you," the you that's not there,
When we give commands, it's just in the air!
You might not see it, but here's what's true—
The subject's always you, yeah, the "understood you!"

"Listen up now," that's what I say,
But who's gonna listen? Who's ready to play?
It's you, my friend, that's understood,
The one who'll listen just like you should!

It's the "understood you," the you that's not there,
When we give commands, it's just in the air!
You might not see it, but here's what's true—
The subject's always you, yeah, the "understood you!"

"Please close the door," I tell my class,
Who's closing the door to let no one pass?
It's you again, though you're not in sight,
With "the understood you," we know it's right!

It's the "understood you," the you that's not there,
When we give commands, it's just in the air!
You might not see it, but here's what's true—
The subject's always you, yeah, the "understood you!"

"Raise your hand high when you want to speak,"
Who's raising their hand? You're the one unique!
So the next time, a command seems true,
Remember it's all about the "understood you!"

It's the "understood you," the you that's not there,
When we give commands, it's just in the air!
You might not see it, but here's what's true—
The subject's always you, yeah, the "understood you!"

